Lion of Judah Private Nature School

WELCOME

Welcome to Lofland Private Nature Schooling Centre. As parents feel free to feel at home here at our farm school.

Collaboration and mutual trust are the cornerstones of successful education. This document of information contains everything that is necessary to make our learners feel at home and to set your mind at ease from all your uncertainties.

Communication between school and you as parents is indispensable. We see happiness and well-being of your child at the utmost importance. Feel free to discuss any uncertainty with the staff.

Read carefully and keep this document as you can refer to it at any time if you are uncertain about anything.

We depend on your cooperation and we assure you of our very best. We intend to always ensure the optimal overall development and happiness of your child.

MISSION

The school aims to establish a positive, Christian, loving, warm and safe atmosphere so that the child can develop optimally in all aspects of humanity.

We believe that no two children are the same and should understand their strengths and focus on building on it.

We believe in schooling and education as much as we believe in character building and skills development.

But most of all we believe in teaching our children that they are called for a purpose. That right is right and wrong is wrong.

That knowing the word is what protects and strengthens you.

That worship is the cure for anxiety, And bearing Good Fruit brings Peace.

That God forgives in an instance and there is no greater protection than the Blood of Jesus and nothing stronger than the Name of Jesus.

A nature school safe and protected, where learning, playing, gardening and creating is encouraged. And our pupils feel special because they know they are made perfectly for what God has planned for them.

WE ARE ALL UNIQUE

MEETING THE NEEDS OF EVERY INDIVIDUAL

There has been a surge in learning difficulties and a demanding need to aid our kids individually. One reason is the modification of lifestyle and the change in human behaviour. The human body is interconnected, and it is crucial to understand how children learn before we can teach them. At Lofland Private Nature Schooling Centre we understand the psychology of learning. We focus on Three Dimensions which is the Focus Dimension, Centering Dimension and Laterality Dimension. Higher-level functions depend on lower level-functions, our neurological system is hierarchical. To master reading, writing, and talking our lower-level functions such as visual and auditory perception must support the higher-level functions.

Through our senses we gather information and then the brain can process the information. Reflexes must be in place to be able to learn effectively and to support the learning process. Movement is an educational investment and part of our way of teaching. Lofland Private Nature Schooling Centre is where we tutor children who need to learn in a way that the body knows BEST. We do not all render to the same way of learning. Learning is simple, learning is easy and can be a fantastic journey, if we honor the process of learning. Learning is not simply remembering facts. WE TEACH THE Lofland Private Nature Schooling Centre WAY.

We Put our Students First

A beautiful environment where learners are safe to be who they are.

All skills are integrated

An inclusive space where education is as much part of learning life lessons as it is of academics.

Exercise

A fun space where exercise, movement and playing is practiced to anchor new learning and bodywork is an essential part of brain work. We have space for children and teens to move, exercise and develop skills.
